Feby 2d — 5

Sir.

Your telegram was not received until near 4 o'clk. Mr. Barber, the Engraver had already left the Mint.

It would be impossible to do the work, within the time named, unless I used a head of Washington which I have on hand, and which no doubt would answer.

The monument on the reverse would be the trouble, but as it is not very elaborate, it is possible to meet your wishes. I can at least make the effort to do so, if you will forward at once the design of the Monument, the size of the medal, and the lettering. If you will telegraph me in the morning the size of the medal, I can begin on the obverse at once. Had your telegram been received a few minutes earlier, I could have been more explicit. You can depend on my doing everything in my power to accomplish what is desired

The following telegram sent you this day is hereby made official:

I find that the only hub of Washington on hand would not answer for a medal of greater diameter than one and one half inches. To make a hub from dies of greater diameter would require two months time. If from original obverse and reverse designs of good size, it would take four or five months to model, reduce hub, and complete dies. We have the New Orleans Exposition and other important

Sir,

Your letter of the 6th. inst. enclosing three pieces of silver plate for assay, was duly received. They were duly assayed, as requested, and found to be 923½ thousandths fine — 1,000 representing absolutely pure silver, and 925 thousandths being sterling silver. This is practically near enough for your purposes. The difference is less than the legal tolerance on our coins.

February 17th 5

Sir.

I have the honor to inform you that the larger die, to wit: the Half Dollar size for the "World's Industrial and Cotton Centennial Exposition," will be completed the latter part of the present week, and will be forwarded as soon as instructions are received to that effect. The other I expect to have completed some time next week.

It is important I should be authorized at once to procure the planchets for these dies. This I cannot do, unless the Managers of the Exposition give me a check to cover the expense, or you instruct me to forward, without a check, or the money.

The smaller planchets are already in condition to be used, and in the hands of M.

Krider, of whom I wrote in my letter of Jan. 9th, and from whom they can be purchased at a reasonable price.

The letter of the Superintendent of the Mint at New Orleans, directed to you — a copy of which was enclosed by you under date of Janry 6th, — intimates a desire to have half the pieces in gilt, and the other half plated in silver. Oreide would answer for the gilt very well, but the others will have to be silver plated, at a cost of about $7.50 a thousand. The planchets to be silver plated of the larger size, could be prepared here in the Mint in copper. The Oreide planchets would have to be ordered from the manufacturers.

I am anxious to do all in my power to further the matter, if I am put in position to protect the Department, and to expedite the work. In my judgment, the sooner these planchets are ready to be struck at the Exposition, the better for the management, as they will find it a source of considerable profit. Any one connected with the Exposition, would be perfectly safe in guaranteeing the expense of the planchets, provided he was to have the receipts until his bill was paid, which would be but a brief period. Nearly every one visiting the Exposition will desire to carry away some convenient souvenir, and this is the cheapest and most suggestive they can purchase.

Mint of the United States at Philadelphia, Pa.

SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE

Trusting to hear from you in this matter.

I am respectfully yours.

February 18th 6

Sir.

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your communication of the 16th inst., enclosing, circular of the Secretary of the Treasury, suspending the coinage of the one and five cent pieces; also copy of letter from the Secretary, addressed to you on the subject; also your letter directing attention thereto and making, enquiries as to our ability to receive and recoin before March 1st, or store for future convenience $19,013.58 in two-cent bronze coin; — and in reply, I beg to point out what seems to be a slight discrepancy between the Secretary's circular and letter and your letter; and further, to ask instructions on the subject.

In the Circular appears the following:—

"When the present supply of such coins at the U.S. Mint "at Philadelphia is exhausted, their issue, at the cost of "the Mint for transportation, as heretofore, will necessarily be discontinued, until it shall appear advisable "able to resume their coinage."

In the letter of the Secretary to you he directs a suspension of the coinage from March 1st, 1855, and in your letter transmitting the circular you direct a suspension "from and after March 1st 1855;" whilst in your other letter referred to, you direct that I shall "at once discontinue receiving, and return remittances for further coinage." Am I to understand that I shall not receive remittances for the minor coinage that will be struck between now and March 1st, or only return such remittances as cannot be filled between now and that period?

In this connection, I beg to say that the apparent redundancy of minor coins, as manifested through the accumulations at the different Assistant Treasuries, should not entirely control the issue of these coins. In the cities where these institutions are located, there are Passenger Railroad Companies, and other Corporations, which accumulate large amounts of these coins, and for convenience, take them to the Sub-Treasuries for redemption, whilst at distant points, where the coins would be of great service to the people, particularly in the north and south, the latter section only beginning to wake up to the importance of small minor coin — there is a constant and increasing demand for these coins. They are issued for the convenience of the people, at an enormous profit to the Government, and I think the latter should pay for their transportation to distant points, where otherwise they would not go.

During the last suspension of this coin, I received letters from all parts of the United States, and when I referred them to the Assistant Treasurers, the first difficulty they met was, that the transportation was not paid, and in some cases they could not get the coin. It was these conditions that induced us to resume the coinage.

Another point I would like to discuss with yourself and the Secretary, is the advisability of recoining all the old minor coins that come into the Sub Treasuries for redemption. The Government should not reissue these old and dirty coins. Formerly, when they were redeemed at the Mint, we put them through a process of acid, that cleansed off the dirt, but the objection then was, that it gave them a sort of spurious look, which in some cases caused their rejection on the part of the people, under the impression that they were counterfeits.

(4.) The remelting of the coin would in time remove all the coins of previous devices, and leave a uniform minor coinage in circulation. The public are now unwilling to take the old 5¢ piece, with its unartistic devices, and clumsy make-up, when the Government is authorized to issue a new coin of increased diameter, sonority, and beautiful devices.

The cost to the Government in recoining the old minor coins, would be trifling, in comparison to the benefits to the people, and as the Government has made, in clear profit in this coinage, up to the present time, many millions of dollars we can well afford to spend some of it, if any loss should fall on the Government, in doing that which would be for the convenience and comfort of the people.

I would like to talk this matter over with you before the close of the present administration, and if agreeable would like you to authorize me to come to Washington, to discuss the matter with yourself and the Secretary,

In relation to the 2¢ bronze coin, I beg to say, that I will be glad to take them in exchange for one cent bronze, and convert them into the same at some convenient time in the future.

Very respectfully
Your obedient servant

Sir;

In reply to your letter of the 18th inst, in relation to the amount of refined silver received at this Mint from the Newark refinery, I have to say that we have carefully gone over our books and find that during the Calendar year 1884 we received from that source 1.501.721 80 fine ozs.

I do not understand where the figures "1.334.863" ozs. referred to as being on my report No. 61 for the "Calendar" year 1884 come from.

Our report was or should have been for the fiscal year ended June 30.

My dear Miss Giller.

I am in receipt of your favor of yesterday, and in reply beg to say, that so long as I am Superintendent, you need not have any fear about your place. As to your scruples about taking half-pay, I can only say that I think you are entitled to it under the rules, and particularly in view of your long and faithful services in the Mint. When I think it has reached a point where it ought to be stopped, I shall attend to it myself, without troubling you.

In the meantime, I trust you will make your mind and heart easy, and give all your efforts to the restoration of your health, which I hope may come with the opening of Spring.

February 28th 1865

Sir

I have to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of yesterday enclosing statements from the several Mints showing the amount of assay coins forwarded by each for the trial made on the 11th 12th and 13th inst. The amounts stated therein tally with the records here, made from our own accounts, and the quarterly abstracts of Assay Coins forwarded by the San Francisco and Carson Mints. The amount claimed to have been sent by the Superintendent of the New Orleans Mint as entered on his abstract sheet is $4865 in Silver Coin, which amount the Counters state they found. But I notice on his statement of Monthly balances for December 1864 he claims to have reserved but $4852. The total amount of Assay Coins received at this Mint is as follows.

Received from	Gold	Silver
San Francisco	$ 20.455 ✓	$ 1628.30 ✓
Carson	1.895 ✓	569. ✓
New Orleans	0	4865 ✓
Philadelphia	1.953.50	7212.05
Total	$ 24.303.50	$ 14.274.35

	Gold	Silver
Amount of Coin on hand	$ 18.517.	$ 13.140.45
Value of Bullion returned	5.770.23.	1.131.40
Total	$ 24.287.23	$ 14.271.85
Amount required as above	24.303.50	14.274.35
Short	$ 16.27.	$ 2.50

Making a total of $ 18.77.

The original amount reported short was $ 19.52.

The bullion gained by Coinage. 04 ozs = .75¢

reducing the shortage to $ 18.77. which amount I

My dear Senator,

Your favor of Feb 25th was received in due Course of mail. Since then I have been quite under the weather and deferred answering until I could see you, which I expected to do yesterday on my visit to Washington.

As you were so much occupied in important matters at the close of the session, & concluded, on arriving there, it would be an imposition to call you out of your Committee Room.

So far as the subject of your letter is concerned, I beg to say, that there are no dies of the Coinage of the United States preserved, except those of the present year. There were a large number in my possession when I was Chief Coiner: But as there was considerable talk about a change in the officers at that time, and fearing that they might be put to improper uses I had them destroyed with the sanction of the Secretary of the Treasury.

It has not been deemed wise to re-coin any of the Coins of the United States after the year of their date.

I will be very happy to furnish you with Coins of the present year at their face-value struck as proofs. These proof Coins are sold through the medal department at an advance, as they are struck on polished planchets from polished dies on a screw press.

I enclose you a list of medals of the U. S. Mint with the price annexed, and shall be happy, under authority from the Department, in view of y former connection therewith to allow you to have them, at their cost, which is one half, say, of the price list.

I shall be extremely glad to serve you in this or anything else within the compass of my power

I am as ever, very truly yours

March 4th 5

Sir.

I have the honor to return herewith two (2) standard dollars in exchange for the two planchets enclosed in your letter of the 2nd inst.

I am at a loss to understand how the planchets could have passed through the several checks into the Cashiers hands. The only way I can account for it, is that some privileged visitor, in looking at a coining press, and in examining planchets, threw the latter into the box of coined, instead of uncoined, pieces.

I am Very Truly Yours

My dear Doctor

I shipped by to-days express, feeders, tube and dies for the Coining press sent to you for use in the Cotton Exposition.

The feeders and tubes are rendered necessary from the fact that those sent with the press will not exactly suit the size of the smaller planchet, which I will forward to you shortly.

The half-dollar feeders you have are right: these I send are for the smaller denomination, which are a little larger than a quarter dollar.

I have written to Mr. Buck, informing him of my action in shipping them to you. There is no expense upon these collars and dies, but when the planchets are received, — which I shall ship to you in a few

Hoping this action will be satisfactory to you.

My dear Docto

I enclose herewith receipted bill for blanks for the World's Industrial Cotton Exposition at New Orleans.

It was my intention, and I so wrote Mr. Buck to send by Adams Express C.O.D. but on enquiry, I found it would cost $100 to send the blanks which seemed to me excessive. I therefore send by freight via the Virginia and Tennessee R.R. directed to your care.

The amount of these two bills to wit;- $607.50 must be paid before the goods are delivered to the Managers of the Exposition. I presume by this time you have received the Dies, Feeders, &c., for the Press.

These blanks, if the price of the medals are made reasonable, will last but a short time, and I should be informed before they are exhausted, so that I may order more.

I take this course of proceeding after consultation with the Director of the Mint, who said you would receive the blanks, get the pay, and forward the same to me, which you can by draft on Philadelphia or New York

Very truly yours

I have the honor to direct your attention to the fact that it is proposed by the Treasury Department to send to this Mint 1 and 2 cent minor coins of old issues in exchange for one cent pieces at present authorized by law.

To meet this demand it would be necessary for us to have on hand some one cent pieces. I therefore write to know whether I shall not continue as opportunity may present to coin the one cent pieces in process of coinage, and store them away for the purpose above referred to, as well as any future

Sir;

When I had the honor of discussing with you the suspension of the Coinage of Minor Coins at this Mint, I explained to yourself as well to Mr Bacon that most of the orders for these coins come from points remotely distant from the Assistant Treasuries of the United States, and that it was a hardship upon the people residing in these remote points to prevent their obtaining coins, because there was a redundancy in the money centres in which as a rule the Sub-Treasuries of the United States are located.

On further discussion of this

subject, I beg to say that I received this morning through the Treasurer of the United States a draft forwarded to me from Leavenworth, Kansas, for $10.— in one cent pieces. The nearest sub-Treasuries to this place are perhaps Chicago and St. Louis.

It is difficult for the public to know where to get the Coin in the first place, and second, it imposes upon them the cost of transportation, and which it seems to me that the Government should pay, in view of the large profit arising from this Coinage.

In my morning's mail I received orders for mint coins from Faribault Minn., Nashua, Iowa; Concordia, Kansas; Owatonna, Minn; Hastings, Neb.; Wellington, Kansas; Tampa, Florida; Grinnel, Iowa; and Houston, Texas.

My judgment is that the people of these distant points should be accommodated with these coin and if the Treasurer of the United States would modify the order suspending the coinage and issue of this coin, so that they might be sent to points distant from the sub-Treasuries of the United States, I am satisfied I would have no difficulty in first supplying the people at the distance with the Coins and secondly in having those in the Assistant Treasuries in the different States absorbed by the local demand therein.

I feel it my duty to present these facts in the interest of the people and trust they may have due consideration

Sir.

In compliance with the request contained in your letter of the 13th inst., I enclose herewith a statement, giving the number of Trade Dollars struck and sold at this Mint from 1878 to 1883 inclusive, with the profit thereon indicated.

You will notice that in 1880 and 1881 there were more pieces sold than struck. This is accounted for by the fact, that some of the Dollars of the previous year, were sold in the early part of the year, before the proofs for that year were prepared. In the other years, the number sold is less than the number struck. The Dollars coin were exchanged with the Coiner for those of the succeeding year.

Prior to 1881 the Trade Dollars were sold in the silver and minor coin sets, and also separately. After that period I stopped the sale of the Trade Dollar separately, as I did not think it wise to encourage their issue, restricting them, as far as possible to legitimate coin collectors, who would purchase the entire set.

In calculating the profits on the Trade Dollars sold in sets, I have given a relative proportion of the profits so derived.

When I assumed the Superintendency of the Mint, I found the proof-sets, including the Trade Dollar, were selling at $4.50 This seemed to me excessive. I therefore recommended a reduction to $4., which was approved by the Director of the Mint, and went into effect on the 15th of April 1879. Previous to that time, Trade Dollars — when separate — were sold at $1.50: after that period, at $1.25.

Trusting the statement and foregoing remarks may cover the information you desire,

I remain

March 17th 1885

Sir.

In reply to your communication enclosing a letter from Asst Treasurer Eyster of this city in relation to two light quarter-dollars purporting to be coined at the Mint at San Francisco and Carson, I beg to say, that I have given the matter serious consideration, and verified my conclusions by practical tests. I differ entirely from Asst Assayer DuBois's opinion, as quoted by Mr. Eyster, that "the evidences are strongly indicative that the pieces have been struck from twenty cent planchets.

First, because there were no twenty cent pieces coined at either the San Francisco or Carson Mints in 1877 the date of the coins; and Secondly, because practical tests prove that even if the feeders used in coining, quarter-dollars took a 20$^{¢}$ blank on to the dies, it would not, under the pressure exerted, fill up the collar, nor be "centered." The two pieces under consideration are well centred, and the reeding, quite well brought out, considering the thinness of the pieces. A practical test which I instituted with blanks the size and thickness of the old 20$^{¢}$ piece, established clearly that the quarter-dollar feeders would not, with any certainly, carry the blanks on to the dies, would not carry them off when struck and in no case was the coin centered, or the work on the dies brought up. Under tests half the periphery of the coin was unreeded, whereas the pieces under consideration had a uniform condition of reeding, showing that the piece filled the collar.

which would not be the case with a 20^{s} blank. The next difficulty to be overcome in the theory that the coins were struck from 20^{s} planchets, is their great divergence from the standard weight of that coin, which amounts to 5^{gr} grains in the Carson coin. Even if 20^{s} planchets were on hand, which is not probable, they would not likely differ so widely from the standard prescribed by law.

With all these facts and data before me, I am absolutely certain the pieces were not struck from 20^{s} blanks, as suggested by the Asst Assayer, whose opinion is based upon a theory unsupported by a practical test; of which, indeed, he is absolutely unfamiliar, as his duties confine him to the assay of the metals composing the coinage, and give him no practical knowledge of the mechanical operations of coinage.

The next question is, how were these pieces produced – were they issued by a National Mint? and if so, how does it happen that two Mints, in the same year, should issue light coins, which should appear at the same time, in the hands of the same Assistant Treasurer? On my first examination of the coins, I was fearful they had been manufactured by counterfeiters from dies prepared by the drop process. I am now quite satisfied, from a close scrutiny that I have given, that this is not the case. Besides, the fact is quite apparent, that if counterfeits were composed of genuine metal they would be made to conform closely to the standard weight prescribed by law, as the divergence from the standard weight indicated in these coins would direct attention to them, and cause their rejection, and possibly lead more surely to the detection of the counterfeiters. In other words; counterfeiters, with such a die, and using standard silver for the coins, would make these coins conform strictly, to the standard weight.

We may therefore conclude that these two coins were issued from the Mint to be before named, and that they are short of weight from a similar cause in each case: and that was the cutting, of the blanks from the end of the fillet or strip, made thin by the pointing, rolls, used for thinning the point of the strips, so as to pass them through the dies on the draw-bench. This accident happened once or twice shortly after I was appointed Chief Coiner of this Mint, although the blanks were discovered before they reached the coining process. I then established the rule, which is still in force, to cut off the thin ends of the strip before they are taken to the cutting machines. In examining this point, I had quarter dollar blanks cut from the points of strips and found the weight to fall below the standard about as much as in the coin under consideration. I had these thin blanks milled, cleaned and struck: and thus produced a coin precisely like those under discussion.

I am therefore clearly of opinion that the coins were cut from the thinned end of strips, and by overweight were coined and issued from the Mints

6.) at San Francisco and Carson.

Mint of the United States at Philadelphia, Pa.
SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE.

These coins should be destroyed, and with that object in view, I suggest that we exchange for them two quarter dollars of standard weight.

In examining the coins I find that the dollars in which they were struck are of different diameter, and both differ from the true diameter, as established at this Mint; which leads me to renew a recommendation made to you some time since, that all the Mints should be supplied from this Mint with standards as to diameter, reeding, &c &c. in connection with our coinage. I herewith return the two coin, and am

Sir;

I inclose herewith telegraphic and epistolary correspondence had with your office and with C.F. Croselmire of Newark N.J. in relation to his bid for 110 barrels of sweep.

From this correspondence you will see that Croselmire claims that his son inadvertently calculated the value of the silver of the sweep at its coin value instead of at its weight; and further, that he has not the money to pay for them. I do not know of his circumstances or whether legal steps would enable us to recover the difference between his bid and that of the next highest bidder but leave the facts for your consideration and will follow any conclusions you may arrive at.

I may say however that the statement he makes looks very plausible and unless some other evidence is presented to the contrary I would be of the opinion that a mistake had been made by his son under the circumstances indicated in his letter.

Croselmire having declined to take the sweeps, I have accepted the bid of A.D. Speer & Co, the next highest bidder. I cannot, of course say whether Speer & Co will accept a not, I have explained to the firm the circumstances that prevented the bid being awarded to them in the first place. If they should decline, I shall feel it my duty unless otherwise ordered to issue requests for new bids

My dear Mr Secretary

In reply to your letter of the 14th. inst. I beg to say that I have made a very careful estimate of the cost of the manufacture of medals and find that they cost the Government about half the price at which we sell them and I shall be happy to allow you to have them at the net cost to the Government. I think in the list there are several included between No. 1 and 6 that you perhaps will not desire under the miscellaneous American and Washington Medals and the Orders of the Merit. Omitting these you would have a very full medal series of Army, Navy, Presidential, Miscellaneous, National, and Anti-National.

The medals which would number about 62 would cost you $174 00. There was a little error in your calculation as you will find from examining the list forwarded you. The total value of the medals embraced in the list between No 1. and 86, was $184 21 instead of $171 25

If it were possible for me to make the price more in harmony with your views I would gladly do so, but I have gone as far as I know you would like me to go, in making the total sum as reasonable as possible

Your former distinguished position at the head of the Treasury Department is the ground upon which a reduction is made and is in harmony with established precedent

Sir,

I inclose herewith a Letter and N.Y. assay office memorandum received from A.B. Schreader of Syracuse New York. It appears from this statement that the New York assay office parts the gold and makes returns for the same when the expense of doing so is much greater than the value of the gold parted. For instance, the weight after melting on the enclosed memorandum is 299.20 ounces.

299.20 @ 2¢ per oz. $5.98

additional charge 1.00

Total $6.98

the value of the gold being but $3.09.

As the assay offices and Mints are working under the same general regulations, though at different rates, will you have the kindness to inform me whether any modification has been made in the instructions to that Office, (none having been received here) I request this information before replying to Mr. Schreuder as I am desirous of making a proper explanation and one which will not manifest a difference in the mode of transacting business at this Mint and assay office

Sir;

I have many applications from parties at a distance who want to dispose of their Trade Dollars but desire returns by Check or draft on a bank, instead of Standard Silver dollars by Express.

The return Expressage to distant points is a Considerable item of expense, and I should be glad to accommodate these people if such an arrangement would be permissible under the regulations.

On consultation with the officers of The Keystone National Bank, opposite the Mint, they kindly agree to receive Standard Silver dollars on deposit for this purpose and

Sir;

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your communication of the 5th inst., in relation to the advance for the support of this Mint during the current month, and in reply beg to say that I think I can close the fiscal year so far as the wages are concerned without any advance on the Standard Silver dollar account. All that I can do in that direction shall certainly be done.

The matter of reducing the force as suggested in a previous Communication has occupied my full and careful attention in conjunction with the operations

Sir;

I enclose copies of the Correspondence in relation to furnishing the New Orleans Exposition with Blanks which I deem it essential you should have on hand.

On my visit to Washington on the 2nd of March, Dr Lawver the Messenger in your Bureau said he had authority to have the Blanks made and requested me to go on with it. In a letter from Mr. J. H. Buck under date of March 3rd, you will find he confirms this fact, in his statement that "Dr Lawver weeks ago kindly volunteered to have the dies immediately prepared and the metal for the casting, the same to be shipped C.O.D. to:-

Also the telegram of March 2 in which he says, "please advise when dies and material which you kindly offered to furnish will be forwarded"

These supplies and material were ordered before the passage of the last Act appropriating money to the Exposition, I have no doubt therefore of the responsibility of the Managers of the Exposition as well as that the amount should be taken out of the last appropriation by Congress.

If you read the correspondence you will notice how anxious I was to serve them, sparing no time to hurry forward anything submitted to my care, and indeed I went out of my way to assist them with advice as well as in other respects, solely in the interest of the success of the Exposition. I am therefore as an American Citizen quite mortified that these gentlemen seem to be so ignorant of that general commercial integrity which makes a contract under such circumstances more than ordinarily binding

My dear Sir,

I see a "cock-and-a-bull" story in the New York Herald, the primary object of which is I believe to reflect discredit upon this institution, particularly as it drags in a coin dated 1875 and a bar stolen in 1885 and increases the latter sheal from 1000 to 12000 dollars.

Will you be kind enough to tell me any facts you know with regard to the Double Eagle referred to, - who offered it at the Assistant Treasury, who referred it to the Superintendent of the Assay Office; and where the Coin is at present.

A

I dont believe any coin was issued by this Mint, containing $1.25 to $1.50 more gold than the law required; still I am anxious to get at the facts and trust you will help me

And beg to remain

My dear Mason,

I notice in rather a startling article in the Herald of yesterday that a Coin purporting to be issued at this Mint dated 1875 is said to have been assayed by you, and to have contained 11⁵⁰ too much gold.

From the character of the article, in which they mix up a bar of Silver stolen in 1885 with the issue of a coin of 1875 and increase the Story of the value of the bar from 1.000 to 12.000 dollars, I presume the article is intended — as are many others from the same source — to cast discredit upon this institution.

I write to ascertain from you, as an old Mint employe, - as well as friend, and fellow officer - who brought you the coin, and what sort of tests you made as to its genuineness, and, indeed all the facts in relation thereto.

By giving me these you will oblige me very much

I am very truly yours

My dear Col.

I am in receipt of your letter enclosing your resignation in this institution, which I have accepted and forwarded to the Department, to take effect 30th inst.

In severing the official relations which have existed for so many years between us, I beg to assure you of my regret at your departure, and also to express my thanks for the intelligence and fidelity with which you discharged the duties of the position you so long held in this institution. I always had entire faith in your integrity which yearly increased.

Trusting that the new field that you have entered into may be profitable and pleasant to you and with the Expression of my best wishes for your future prosperity

I remain

Very truly yours

My dear Mr Torry,

I am in receipt of and thank you for your note.

It is quite in harmony with what I supposed would be the facts in the case.

I wish I could find out who the infamous scoundrel was who started this story with a view to injure the reputation of this institution. I think I know him and if my conjectures are true, he will regret the course he is now taking

Very truly yours

My dear Mr Mason,

I am in receipt of your letter of the 21st inst, and thank you for it.

It seems to me past comprehension how any man could be so lost to decency and reason as to not only originate a deliberately falsehood, but to give it some show of currency by naming you and others respectable in connection with it.

Again thanking you for your prompt attention to the matter

I remain as ever,

Very truly yours

My dear Mr Acton,

I am in receipt of your favor of the 21st inst., and have to thank you for the prompt response to my letter.

I was quite satisfied before I wrote that no coin such as was described was ever issued by this Mint: and also that the use of your honored name and that of my friend Watson was without authority: in fact a part of the fraud.

I trust I may discover the name of the miserable liar and blunderer who first invented the infamous falsehood and then fraudulently used the names of honorable gentlemen to bolster up his iniquities

My dear Preston

After a very thorough examination as to the cost of manufacturing minor coins, I am of opinion that each piece costs, say, 7 mills.

I send you this information in reply to the enquiry contained in your note.

This letter although brief represents a very exhaustive examination into the subject

I am very truly yours

A. Loudon Snowden

27: April 5

Sir;

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your communication of the 24th. enclosing, copy of a letter signed M. Everett Reynolds, addressed to the Secretary of the Treasury in relation to a Half Dollar of 1826, and in reply beg to say that the Half Dollar of the date named is not very scarce.

The records of the Mint at that period are defective inasmuch, that they do not have the number of pieces coined, but only the number issued. Sometimes the coinage of a year was a great deal less than the number issued. The record at that time was kept between the Mint and the Girard Bank. In that year (1820) there were 4.004.180, delivered to the Girard Bank.

The specimen described in the letter is worth perhaps 75 ¢. If in an uncirculated and perfect condition it would be worth about One Dollar

4. May 5

Sir;

In the reduction of the force rendered necessary by the suspension of mint coinage under orders from the Department I deemed it advisable - as you are aware - to reorganize the cleaning room. To that purpose, much to my regret, I was compelled to drop Henry E. Rulon from the rolls.

The reorganization of the room is rendered necessary in view of the fact that sometime since and recently gold and silva bullion were permitted to remain unprotected in the room after working hours, and which remained in my possession until I could return it to your vaults. I had hoped that the admonition on this subject given during the term of your predecessor would have produced vigilance and care. This has not proved to be the case & I determined to create a vacancy which I trust you will fill by the transfer of Mr. W.H. Evans, from the Annealing to the Cleaning room.

Mr Evans has for many years been employed in the Department, as you are aware, and I believe him to be honest, careful, and capable.

Mint of the United States at Philadelphia, Pa.

SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE.

You will please instruct him to see that great care is taken in handling the precious metals, and at the close of each day that all the bullion be returned to your vaults. If this change does not produce you satisfactory results, please give me notice of the fact

13: May 5

Sir;

Your letter enclosing a copy of a letter from the Coiner of the Mint at Carson was duly received, and after a full consideration of the subject I have concluded to prepare not only a guage for the milling machine, but a tool to dress the machine. I have also prepared a steel collar in conformity with the dimensions given by the Coiner.

These I am ready to ship either directly to the Carson Mint or to your office for transmission there — which ever you may deem best.

There is one point I would like to direct the Coiner's attention to. We find that the brass table coming in contact with the steel collar in a short time wears away the former and thus makes a play of the collar which should not exist.

To obviate this each casing table has inserted a hardened steel ring ground to such inside diameter as will receive the collar as ground to external standard gauges. The thickness of the ring is equal to the height of the neck of the collar: in other words it rests upon the shoulder of the collar. These are replaced whenever any wear is discovered so that the collar is always in close contact with the table.

If you desire me to write these facts to the Comm, I shall do so and you can transmit them.

Awaiting your further orders
I remain very respectfully

16: May 5

Sir;

I am in receipt of your communication of yesterday in relation to the removal of Hugh Hawkins and the retention of John Keenan in the Department under your charge, in which you refer to a reply made to a communication sent by me under date of March 28th, requesting the efficiency of the men in your Department so as to remove the least efficient in carrying out the Director's order for the reduction of the force.

The communication to which you refer was received and placed upon my desk, with one from the Comm of a similar character which I proposed to consult in making a reduction of the force. When the time arrived for taking the matter up, your communication had mysteriously disappeared from my desk, and could nowhere be found. On sending Mr Hickock the Chief Clerk to request a copy from you, he was informed that no copy had been taken, which seemed quite curious in relation to so important a communication, especially as your usual course - which I notice is followed in your last communication - is to take press copies of communications addressed to me as

Superintendent.

You promised the Chief Clerk to make up from preserved data in your possession a statement embodying substantially the facts contained in the last communication.

When this was received under date April 29th - one day before the discharge was to take place I discovered that instead of being an answer to the inquiries contained in my letter for special facts as to the qualification & worthiness, it was simply a transcript from the rolls giving the names of the men and the work (they) performed without classification as their merits as workmen. The data upon which such information could have rested would seem not to have been lost since in your communication — to which this is an answer — you present data in the case of Keenan of the most exact kind. Having therefore nothing to guide me in making selections for removal so far as your department was concerned I acted upon such facts as I could gather from those in whom I reposed confidence and dropped from the rolls John Hunter, Thomas B. Cave, and Hugh Hawkins. The former has not been in condition for month to render any valuable services to Government. Cave has been absent a great deal on account of sickness and was also unable to take his turn at the bench. Hawkins I selected as a man that could likely be spared, from my long familiarity with his qualifications, having had him directly under me for many years when I was Coiner of the Mint.

I also knew that an effort had been made by one of your predecessors to transfer him into a Mint in which position he was entitled to take from his years of service and he was found either unwilling to perform the work or incompetent to do it.

I am sorry that I did not know of his transformation from an indifferent to so excellent a workman as would seem to be the case from your letter. If I had he would not have been disturbed. As to John Keenan whom your last Communication intimates is the only man on your rolls who by want of attention to his work, absence from the Mint and other causes, deserves to be classed as No. 3 - or the lowest grade - I beg to say, that he was nominated by you from the force employed in the (f)

General Department of the Attorney after he had been employed there for some time, which would seem to indicate that his qualifications as a workman were as should have been known to you: and secondly I know that in the matter of the abstraction of a libra bar from your department he was most active and vigilant in assisting the officers of the law, and we are indebted to his tact and skill for the discovery of a link in the chain of evidence that connects Daley with the sale and delivery of the bar to Simpson. Since then he has been absent several days by reque of the special officer in giving information in connection with the trial of Daley which takes place next Monday, which will account for some of his absences since Jan'y 1885.

If however you had given me in your communication of April 29th the information contained in your last letter,
I should certainly have removed him;
if not from the limit to some other position therein. The latter course I will now take.

In making the removals the responsibility rested upon me, and I desired, on consultation with the officers

(L)

Mint of the United States at Philadelphia, Pa.

to take those persons who could best be spared from our service.

If an error was made it was unintentional and certainly no man in this Mint is better prepared to form an estimate of the qualifications of the workmen in it than myself who for years was in daily contact with them and have at all times been watchful as to their qualifications in the discharge of their duty

I am respectfully yours

19. May 5

Sir;

Department Circular No. 62, in relation to the 'Purchase of Mutilated Silver Coins at the Mints of the United States" issued by you does not in express terms confine the purchase to subsidiary silver coin, although I presume it is intended to apply solely to these Coins.

The first paragraph authorizing the Superintendents of the Mints to purchase mutilated and uncurrent United States Silver Coins of standard fineness at the rate of ninety eight (98) cents per ounce Troy

Under Section 3573 Revised Statutes the Trade Dollar is enumerated as one of the Silver Coins of the United States, and unless by express authority of law to the Contrary must be so considered.

The question has arisen whether under the last circular issued, to which reference has been made, this coin when mutilated can be refused when offered in sums of $5.00 and upwards.

The only mention of "Bullion Coin" is in the third paragraph of the Circular where reference is made to the returns made to persons selling such Coin.

I have taken the ground that the circular has reference to subsidiary coin - on account of my personal knowledge of its object - and shall so direct here until otherwise ordered.

Under the original circular (Department No 15) which is in the same terms as the last, all mutilated silver coin were purchased here when presented (mixed) in sums between $3 and $100. for the purpose of relieving persons who had not enough bullion to sell under general regulations requiring over $100.

This was a relief to the holders of such coin and no injury to the

(3)

Government as the price named in that Circular was nearly 2 Cents per ounce less at the time than the current price paid for silver bullion over our Counter. The price fixed by Circular No. 102, is to day one Cent and a quarter (1¼) higher than the price for bullion. In view of this fact the owners of Trade dollars naturally desire to dispose of them at the price named in the Circular, and contend that if the coin is mutilated and presented within $3. and $100, I have no authority under the circular to refuse to purchase.

I shall however as before stated

Continue to refuse to receive them until otherwise directed.

If the Circular was intended to apply to the subsidiary silver coin — as I believe it was and is — it would have been better perhaps to have stated that fact either in the head line or in the body of the Circular and if more are printed, I would respectfully recommend such a change so that no misconception could arise in the public mind as to what coin is embraced in the terms of the Circular.

The best mode however to prevent any confusion would be to pay for mutilated coin the same price allowed for silver bullion over the Counter, then it would not matter whether a mutilated Standard Trade Dollar - or foreign Coin - were included in a purchase. This would accommodate the public and create a uniformity in the price paid each day for all Silver purchases at the different Mints, which in my judgement is quite desirable. In this Connection I beg to say that many persons at a distance have trade dollars in less sums than 100 Dollars who are desirous to dispose of them and could be accommodated under the mutilated Circular regulation, if the price paid for silver under that Circular was the same as that paid for bullion received over the Counter.

(5)

(over)

All of which is respectfully submitted

Very respectfully
Your obedient servant

The following telegram sent you this day is hereby made official.

21: May 5

Sir;

It is due to yourself, this office, and the other sellers of silver bullion that a full statement of facts be laid before you before I pay Colgate & Co for Trade Dollars offered in conformity with Circular No. 62, and which you directed me to pay for under the terms of that Circular, by telegram under date of May 20th.

The reasons against paying 98¢ per ounce, when the price of silver over the Counter was but 96 7/8 are numerous. Among these there may be mentioned:

That the circular was not intended to cover Trade Dollars or any other silver when offered in amounts exceeding 100 dollars, and acting on this knowledge I issued a circular limiting the amount distinctly to 100 dollars and also refused to receive Trade Dollars under the Circular on the day before Colgate & Co's telegram from Sandy Hook and many other letters of holders in this City.

In addition it may be mentioned that purchasers under Circular No. 15 — which is the same as Circular No 62 — have always been paid by checks of the medal Clerk and taken up into the general accounts at the close of each month.

Mint of the United States at Philadelphia
SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE

It would be impossible to follow this rule with so large an amount of bullion as is offered by Colgate & Co. To purchase it under the general regulations over our Counter, the purchase would have to pass through our books with other bullion taken the same day at a cent and a quarter less per ounce. An explanation would have to accompany the entry on the Register which, in my judgment, should be avoided if possible.

Another difficulty is that under the present regulations sellers of bullion over our Counter have to receipt

Mint of the United States at Philadelphia, Pa.
SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE.

upon the Registry for the payment of the same. This could not be done in the case under Consideration

I have felt it my duty to lay all these facts before you and if after Consideration you still adhere to your telegram of yesterday, I shall promptly pay Colgate & Co making such entry as may be proper on our books

Sir

I beg to respectfully returns herewith my Balance Sheet No 232 for the month of March, as originally rendered, and have to state that it is correct.

In explanation of the difference between it, and the Cashiers daily statement of balances of Gold and Silver coin on hand on that day (which latter is incorrect) I would state, that the Cashier erroneously took credit in his a/cs. for 11 Sta Dolls. and 2 half Eagles = $21., as having been forwarded to you for Special Assay, instead of 10 sta Dolls = $10. 2. 1/2 Eagles = $10. 1 Eagle = $10. total $30. but the error having been discovered in your office on receipt of the coin and reported to me in your letter of April 3rd, the Book Keeper at once made the correct entries in the Gold and Silver Coin a/cs.

and Special Assay Coin aces for the Month of March and these aces, and the balance Sheet in question are exactly correct.

The Cashier in his Daily Statement for April 4th corrected his error by suitable counter entries and explanatory notes, to which statement I beg to respectfully refer you
